INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY REPORT ON PATENTABILITY

Box No. V Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

Novelty (N)	Claims	1-17	YES
	Claims		NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims	1-17	YES
	Claims		NO
Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims	1-17	YES

2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)

1. In the present report, reference is made to the following document:
D1: XP8026789
2. D1, which is considered to be the most relevant prior art, describes (with reference to figure 6 of said document):
a device for injecting a pulsed supersonic gas flow into an enclosure, comprising a chamber inside which the gas to be injected is pressurised and a supersonic gas discharge nozzle capable of communicating with the chamber via an opening provided therein. D1 does not describe a valve that seals said opening and is actuated percussively by a free piston provided in the chamber for this purpose.
The subject matter of claim 1 is therefore novel (PCT Article 33(2)).
3. The problem addressed by the present invention can be considered to be that of injecting rapid, concentrated puffs of gas into a plasma, so that the gas penetrates deeply into the core of the plasma before being entirely ionised. In the prior art, the central areas of the plasma could not be reached using piezoelectric valves, since the gas was already ionised a few centimetres from the point of injection. The proportion of gas that reached the central areas of the plasma was limited to 10 to 20 %.

The solution proposed by the present invention, which consists in using an arrangement comprising a supersonic gas discharge nozzle, enables around 50 to 60 % efficiency to be achieved, with costs comparable to those of the prior art. Since it is neither known from nor made obvious by the prior art documents, this solution is considered to involve an inventive step (PCT Article 33(3)).

4. Claims 2 to 17 are dependent on claim 1 and thus also comply, as such, with the PCT requirements of novelty and inventive step.
